The annual business meeting will be next Sunday, January 25th

*Stand firm, then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace.
Ephesians 6:14-15 NIV*

THE ARMOR OF GOD

Lord, give me courage, and help me to put on your armor daily. Thank you for giving me what I need to stand against the devil's schemes. In you I am well equipped and fully able to find victory.

PASTOR'S CORNER - Comparisons (part B)

I believe that biblical humility is being content with simply being myself. This is what Rom 12:3 is getting at: "For by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned."

Comparing ourselves with others shows an attitude of not trusting the sovereignty of God in our lives. It reveals that we don't really accept and are not genuinely thankful for who we are and what God is allowing us to accomplish. It shows that we are jealous and envious of others.

We can deal with the temptation to compare ourselves with others by praying daily, filling our mental hard drive with verses like those above, and confessing my sin as soon as I am aware that I am again headed down the comparison road.

Who I am. This has to do with being self-aware: aware of who I am and who I am not. I need to be aware of my strengths and weaknesses. I want to know my capacity and limits, when I have hit the wall emotionally, physically, or relationally. I ask the Lord to show me when I need to step it up and when I need to slow it down.

Where I am. I need God's grace to serve wholeheartedly where I am, not where I would like to be. Serve God where you are, because you can't serve God where you aren't. This might seem like a simple statement, but it can be profound when we live it out by His grace.

What I'm doing. It is so easy to think that the grass is greener on the other side of the fence. I want to trust the sovereign Lord that He has sovereignly placed me where I am and given me what I am doing. I want to experience His giving me the work to do and the energy to do it.

What God is doing. For many this is the hardest one to live out. We are ambitious and want to see lots happen. We need to be careful that our noble ambitions for the kingdom of God don't degenerate into ignoble ambitions for our own kingdom. James 3:13-16 speaks to the heart issue on ambition. Let us rely on the wisdom of God to guide us and teach us on the way we are living for Him.

WHEN I SURVEY THE WONDROUS CROSS

What are you tempted to be prideful about? Maybe financial prosperity, career success, or social media influence? From a worldly perspective, Paul had plenty worthy of boasting about. He described himself as circumcised on the eighth day, of the people of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of Hebrews, and faultless in regard to keeping the law. Yet Paul made it clear that he would only boast in what Christ did on the cross (Galatians 6:14)

Isaac Watts echoed Paul's sentiment in his hymn "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." In the second verse, Watts wrote that he would only boast in the death of Christ. He would not take pride in earthly accomplishments or possessions. It's a beautiful reminder of the magnitude of what Christ did on the cross, and the song is, ironically, considered Watt's highest achievement.

The power of hymns is found in their deep connection to Scripture. It is what causes the words to be sung for generations. This moving hymn ends with a commitment to give Christ our soul, our life, our all. It is what Jesus called the greatest commandment – to love the Lord with all our hearts, souls, and minds (Matthew 22:37). It is a fitting response to the work of Christ. All of our works pale in comparison to the wondrous cross.

Lord, may I never lose wight of what You accomplished on the cross.

Though the fig tree does not blossom, and no fruit is on the vines; though the produce of the olive fails and the fields yield no food; though the flock is cut off from the fold and there is no herd in the stalls, yet I will rejoice in the Lord;

I will exult in the God of my salvation.

Habakkuk 3:17-18

Murphy's Law sometimes seems to characterize my life, God, but I don't want to have a defeatist attitude. You allow difficulties to come my way to refine my character. Help me see setbacks as challenges and not as curses. Help me approach problems as opportunities to learn and grow and not as insurmountable walls. Teach me to have a tenacity of faith that can find a reason to be happy, even in adversity. Amen.

*'Tis easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows along like a song;
But the man worthwhile is the one who will smile
When everything goes dead wrong.
